Вопросы и задания:

Задание 1. The photos were taken in the countries that are described below.

1) What countries are described? How can you tell? (reading / listening for the main idea)

A. It is the world's largest island and its smallest continent. The continent is south of the Equator [i'kweita]. Much of the land is a useless desert. Great deserts cover (покрывают) nearly 2,000,000 square kilometres. Most of the continent is sunny most of the year. Its population is very small (only 0.3% of the world's population) for such a huge country. Many people live far away from towns in the outback.* Severe droughts [si,vi3 'drauts] (сильная засуха), floods (наводнение) and cyclones happen very often on the continent. The people suffer from limited fresh water.

B. It is an island state. It covers a territory of two large islands and several smaller ones. Its coast is over 6,000 miles long. It may be a small island by Russian standards, but geographically it is varied. The south and the east of the island consist of flat plains or hills. Mountainous areas are found only in the north and west. In this country you are never very far from the coast and there are lots of seaside resorts.

It has a mild climate. It is never very cold or very hot. There's steady (постоянный) rainfall throughout most of the year. The main passenger ports and airports are in the Southeast. It's a rich country, one of the richest in the world.

C. It is the fourth largest nation in the world. It covers 4,500 kilometres from one ocean on the east to another one on the west. Three-quarters (3/4) of the country is washed by ocean. People live within four time zones. It's a land of physical contrasts. Practically every climate in the world is represented. The southern parts of the country have warm temperatures year round, but the northern parts have very cold winters. The land varies from heavy forests to large deserts, from high mountains to deep canyons. If you travel across the country you would go over mountain ranges, cross hundreds of rivers, and spend days on the vast, flat prairie lands. You would drive past hundreds of lakes, woods and forests. It has most of what every country would like to have — a variety of natural resources, all sorts of products and industries of every kind.

Задание 2. Russia is a huge country with a great variety of landscapes.

- 1) What is special about the geographical position of Russia? (AB Unit 1, ex. 2)
- 2) Could any of the landscapes on pages 3 and 7 be found somewhere in Russia? Which ones? In what parts of the country?
- 3) What landscape is typical of your region?

Задание 3. According to the American historian Frederick Jackson Turner, the frontier" experience had a deep influence on the American character.

1) What were Americans like at the period of the frontier experience? (reading for specific information)

America is a nation of risk-takers. Most Americans are descendants (потомок) of immigrants who left the known of the Old World* for the unknown of the New.*

The pioneers who lived on the frontier had a hard life, so they had to be tough and self-reliant.

Frontier men and women were often facing new problems and situations which needed new solutions (решение). Under these circumstances (условия), they soon learned to experiment with new inventions and new ways of doing things. This willingness to experiment and invent led to another American trait, a sense of optimism that every problem has a solution.

The frontiersmen had to overcome (преодолевать) many difficulties. Friends and neighbours came for help without any reward. They shared food, together built each other's houses and fought fires. This extraordinary willingness to cooperate gave a rise to American's capacity (способность) for volunteer actions.

Задание 4. Karen Hewitt, a British author, made a personal account (оценка) of the British people and their lives on the 'beautiful, off-shore island' in her book Understanding Britain.

1) Which aspects of life does K. Hewitt explain for visitors? (reading for detail)

We live on a very small island with a mild climate and a history of centuries of efficient roadbuilding. This is partly because we have excellent road-building materials. We rarely have severe winter frosts that damage (портить) the roads very much, and we do not normally suffer from heat, drought or flooding.

About 44% of the population spend time gardening. The climate, is ideal. Most of us do not need to grow vegetables, but home-grown vegetables taste better than those in shops. We also grow flowers and have a passion for lawns of grass which stay green throughout the year.

It was the British who started the fashion for seaside holidays. Not surprisingly, nobody in Britain lives more than one hundred and twenty kilometres from the sea. The nearest holiday area of France is only three or four hundred kilometres away. Many families prefer to drive to the warm south and camp in comfortable campsites. Spain is also popular. It offers a wonderful climate.

The British love of compromise is the result of the physical geography. This may or may not be true, but it is certainly true that the land and climate in Britain don't have extremes (крайность). Britain has mountains, but none of them are very high, it also has flat land, but you can't travel far without seeing hills, it has no big rivers, it doesn't usually get very cold in the winter or very hot in the summer, it has no active volcanoes.

2) How does the author explain the reasons why □ there are excellent roads in England?

- a lot of people like gardening?
- most British people spend their holidays at the seaside?
- a lot of people like spending their holidays in France and Spain? English people like compromise?

Задание 5. This is the way Yale Richmond, an American author, describes Russians in his book From Nyet to Da.

1) What conclusions does the author come to? Why does he think so? (reading for detail)

Russians are impressed with size and numbers, and much that they do is on a grand scale (высокий уровень). This is not unusual for such a vast country. Russians think and act big.

Russians think of themselves as members of the community rather than as individuals. The origin of the Russian communalism lies deep in the vastness of the Great Russian Plain.

Nature has not been kind to Russia. Much of European Russia and Siberia is very cold most of the year. In Old Russia, people could do little during winter months. But in spring there was much to be done, and in a short period of time. This explains why Russians often are inactive for long periods of time and then show bursts of energy. The harsh climate explains the Russians' strength, their ability to overcome hardships, as well as their patience and submission. Climate has also made them cautious.

Their cruel climate, harsh history, and sceptical outlook (взгляд) on life have made Russians value (ценить) stability, security, social order, and predictability, and to avoid (избегать) risk. To understand the Russians, one must know where they come from.

2) Which conclusions of the author do you agree with? Which conclusions do you disagree with? Why?

3) How much is the Russian national character influenced by the country geography and climate?

4) What do you think about the notion "national character"?

Задание 6. How would you explain these facts to foreigners?

- Why do Russians build such colossal things as the Cathedral of Jesus Christ the Saviour, the Kremlin's Palace, the Rossiya Hotel in Moscow, the Mother Russia Monument in Volgograd?

- Why don't Russians trim the grass, bushes, or trees in the street, or even in the park?

Everything just grows wild.

- Why are winter posidelki so popular with Russians?
- Why do Russian people often gather around the samovar on holidays or when guests come to their places?
- Why do Russian men wear shapki and women platki even in summer?
- Why do Russians take off shoes and leave them outside the door?

Вопросы и задания:

Задание 1. These young people choose different ways to express their identity. 1) Whose lifestyle do you like most?

TOM

Some people call me a hacker. I like my computer and I can do many things with its help. I've designed a new game for my brother and I've made a programme for my teacher of English. Now we can use computers at our English lessons.

SVETA

I've joined the organisation of Young Agrarians. I'd like to be with those people who think about nature, who help young people in the villages to get higher education and to get a good job.

DANIEL

I'm not in a group. I don't care about organisations. I like to wear cool T-shirts and dreadlocks (дреды). I like listening to reggae music. But I don't like the fact that some people put you into-categories according to the way you dress or according to the music you listen to. I also study at art school where I can express myself in my paintings. 2) What do you do

- to express yourself?
- to develop your own lifestyle?
- to change the world for the best?

Задание 2. *Buddy from the story Buddy's Song by Nigel Hinton liked music and played the guitar. His dad hoped his son would become as famous as Buddy Holly. * Buddy's dad found a group The Hi-Tone Four that needed a vocalist. Now Buddy was in the group.* 1) How did his first performance finish?

His dad worked hard to find them work and he even got a gig at a pub in a nearby town for a Teddy Boys reunion evening.

"They're all mad music fans," he told Buddy, "so they'll love you. There's a couple of other groups but you lot are top of the bill. It'll be great."

It should have been great, but it was a disaster.

By the time they arrived, the pub was packed with Teddy Boys all dressed up for an evening out. The second group was just coming to the end of their performance and the noise in the pub was incredible. Nobody seemed to be listening to the music; instead, there was a lot of pushing and shouting, and a feeling of violence in the air. Most of the Teddy Boys were old and fat and looked terrible with their big stomachs under their jackets. Buddy was surprised, though, to see quite a number of young people about his age. They seemed to be the ones who were causing most of the trouble, shoving each other around and looking as if all they wanted to do was fight.

When the second group finished, they quickly set up their equipment on the tiny stage in the corner. The pub was obviously a regular place where Teds met because the juke-box was filled with old rock'n'roll records, and while they were getting ready Buddy was horrified to hear two of the songs he and the group were going to play.

"We can't sing those," he said to Paul, as they started to tune up. "We'll sound awful after the record."

"Nah, it'll be all right," Paul said. "OK, boys, ready?"

Paul waited for the song to stop on the juke-box then he stepped forward to the mike {microphone}. "Right, boys and girls, time for some live music. I'd like to introduce 'The Hi-Tone Four' with our young vocalist, Buddy Clark."

He stepped out the beat and they launched into "Good Golly Miss Molly*".

Then, louder than the group, came the sound of the original version of the song by Little Richard.* Somebody had put it on the jukebox.

There was a movement in the crowd as people looked round at the juke-box, then back at the group. With the noise of the record in front and the noise of the band behind him, Buddy couldn't hear anything else but he could see by the jeering faces that everybody was laughing.

Then Buddy saw his dad moving towards the juke-box, his face determined and angry. He bent down and pulled the plug out of the socket. The record stopped and the fight started. One of the young boys pushed his dad aside to try to get to the plug, his dad pushed back and the next moment there was the sound of smashing glass as the people dropped their beers and crashed into each other.

2) Why was the first performance not successful? Are the following causes true or false? Find evidence in the story.

1. The performance of 'The Hi-Tone Four'¹ was after another group.
2. Most of the visitors were too old.
3. The visitors didn't pay attention to the performance.
4. The group couldn't sing well.
5. The stage was very small and uncomfortable.
6. Some visitors wanted to fight and looked for the cause to begin that fight.

Задание 3. When young Russians are bored being alone they choose a group with the same interests as all teenagers do.

1) Is there such an opportunity? (reading for the main idea)

In Russia in 2003 there were 62 federal and interregional youth and children organisations which were officially registered.

One of them is the Federation of Children Organisations of Russia. (Unlike/Not as) the organisations many years ago this organisation is independent from political parties. The main aim is to protect rights and interests of children and young people, to organise their free time, to help them develop various skills useful in their future life. (Like/As) pioneers many years ago members of this organisation help disabled people, make performances for young children. Besides such organisations there are different groups and subgroups with special interests (like/as) in many countries.

Задание 4. The media often associates youth with something threatening and violent.

Who do these opinions about young people belong to: an elderly person, a middle-aged person, a teenager?

A. More violence, more vandalism* exists than it did ten years ago. Many people say that their lives have been made miserable by young people out on the street late at night. Young people are more violent than ever. All those groups or subcultures are awful, because all of their members are violent. They only think about rebellion against society, its laws, they reject everything, they protest against their parents and school. I think they are potential criminals, their groups are like gangs (банды). I think all these groups should be forbidden.

B. Violence is the symptom of problems in the society. Teenagers don't live in a desert. Home, school, and neighbourhoods are part of the individual environment. They play a great role in the expression of violence. A society cannot suggest anything really worthwhile for teens. There are not many organisations that are interesting for teens. There are not enough sports clubs. Besides many hobbies and sports are expensive, and teens can't afford them. That's why they are rebellious. Crime for teens is an expression of their inability to join in society. At different levels: social, economic or cultural. Teens don't think much about their future life. They want to live now. Being in a group is like living a real life for them. To be a fan of something or someone is a hobby, to be a hippie, for example, it's a life.

Задание 1. In Britain, the 21st birthday traditionally means coming of age. * But young people get many important rights before they become 21. Adults say that children today grow up more quickly, because the law makes it possible.

Listen to some British teenagers and complete the chart about what they can or can't do because of the age limits. Guess their age. (listening for specific information/taking notes) the law allows ...to... parents allow... to... the law forbids ...to... parents forbid ...to... age

Задание 2. Nowadays, more and more social problems are associated with being young.

1) What teens' problems are discussed in this magazine article? While reading find the words in the article that can help you to understand the meaning of the highlighted words. Then find the correct meaning of these words in the column on the right, (reading for specific information)

WHAT MAKES OUR CHILDREN DO THIS?

Today it is fashionable to speak about teenage problems. A few years ago alcohol, fights, killings and other kinds of violence were more problems for adults than for young people.

But now, as official reports admit, violence, AIDS,* drugs and alcohol are more and more associated with youngsters. For many children from poor families violence, drinking problems and all that is associated with poverty becomes more real than reality.

The Government surveys show that every fifth teenager who was arrested for criminal actions, was younger than 14 and could not be sent to prison. Almost half of teenagers have an experience with drugs, alcohol and sex under age of 16. A lot of teenagers who have drug or alcohol addiction almost never believe that they are dependent. These things are often combined with family and school problems. What has gone wrong? Some specialists explain that the changes of our society, the system of our life force young people to choose their own lifestyle. On the one hand, our society agrees that 15-17-year-old people are old enough to be responsible for what they do and give them quite a lot of freedom and rights. On the other hand, most adults think that teenagers are too young to be taken seriously. This misunderstanding produces many problems. Actually, a lot of teenagers say that their parents let them do anything they want and are quite indifferent to their problems. Many teenagers get upset or depressed when they can't solve their problems. As a result, it makes them believe that there is only one way out — to stop living and commit suicide.

No doubt, the teens' problems will increase. And young people should feel that they are cared for.

Задание 3. What is similar and what is different in the dating customs of the English-speaking countries and your country? (reading for specific information/extracting cultural information/making comparison)

IN AMERICA, BRITAIN AND CANADA

- Young people often start meeting someone of the opposite sex around the age of 14. They do not need an older person to go with them. Teenagers generally date people of their own age, although girls sometimes date boys two or three years older than they are.
- Either a girl or a boy can invite someone on a date. It does not mean that they date regularly only one person. They may go out with one person one week and someone else the next one. Most teenagers go on dates with more than one person. Young people may even date several friends at the same time. Sometimes two couples go together.
- Parents very rarely choose dates for their children. Young people usually meet and choose their own dates. Sometimes, however, someone arranges a date for two people who do not know each other.
- Boys and girls go to parties together. They go on dates to the cinema, dances, roller skating, etc. A boy often goes to pick up his date at her home. Girls may invite boys to parties or other social events. Hand holding and light kissing in public are common. Anything more than light kissing is not generally approved of in public.
- Dating is often very expensive. Today, even the simplest date can cost over $20.00. A couple on a date may go to the movies and have a snack afterwards. Movies now cost $3.00-$5.00 per person, and a snack can easily cost more than $10.00. The boy and girl often share expenses. Sometimes, however, one person pays for both people.

- ✓ Charlie and I often go on outings together. We both pay for our own movie tickets and hamburgers and soda. We don't always have enough money to cover our expenses. And this is the answer to the limited budget. It's a pleasant afternoon what matters more for us, not money.
- ✓ It doesn't always turn out (оказывается) well. I can only imagine what my date will be like. Will we both enjoy the same kinds of food, music, and films? Will she be pretty? I like this exciting experience.

Вопросы и задания:

Задание 1. Great Britain is a Welfare State, * a country that has a system of ensuring the welfare (обеспечение благосостояния) of its citizens by means of social services, provided (предоставляемые) by the state. At the national level the Government is responsible for the National Health Service, 'National Insurance' and Social Security. *

1) The systems of National Insurance and Social Security provide financial help for different categories of citizens.

What categories of citizens are entitled (have rights) to social payments? (listening, reading for specific information)

When people work they must pay contributions (взносы) to the National Insurance fund. Contributions are also made by the employer (работодатель) and the Government. National Insurance benefits (payments) are available (доступны) to the unemployed, the sick and the retired. The disabled are also provided with financial help. Financial help is also available to the widowed. Every child is entitled to a child benefit (or allowance*), whatever the parents' income (доход) may be.

Social Security covers a wide range of payments, mainly to people who do not qualify for National Insurance payments. The main social groups who claim social security benefits are: single parents, the long-term unemployed, and pensioners whose pension is too low. People in full-time work whose earnings are below a certain level can claim benefits, too.

WHAT MAKES OUR CHILDREN LEAVE HOME?

ABOUT 20% of British teenagers leave home after the age of 16. Some of them are students. They get help from the government (grants) or their parents to study away from home but they go back home during their holidays, so they have not really left.

MOST of the 20% leave home because they want to get work and experience of the world. However, accommodation is a big problem. Sometimes young people share flats, but most young people have to live in bedsitters that are rooms you sleep and live in. Some bedsitters have washinf and cooking facilities.

SOMETIMES, young people live in empty houses. This is called squatting. There are also hostels for the homeless. The main problems are loneliness, getting a job and being able to do the washing and cooking. In Britain, however, it is natural for children to leave home. In fact, only 9% of people aged over 65 live with their children and many older parents who cannot look after themselves have to live in old people's homes.

Раздел 6 «Является ли социальная система ярмаркой благосостояния?»

My father had a letter that made his face go white: he has been made redundant from his job! He will be on the dole! How can we live on the pittance that the government will give us? The dog will have to go!

It costs thirty-five pence a day for dog food, I am a single-parent child whose father is on the dole! Social Security will be buying my shoes! 🍁 Wednesday September 9th

My father can easily spare a hundred pounds. His redundancy payment must have been huge, so why he is lying on his bed moaning (стонать, охать) I don't know. He is just a mean skinflint! He hasn't paid with real money anyway! He used his American Express card. 🍁 Wednesday March 3d

I had to lend my father enough money for a gallon of petrol, he had an interview for a job. My mother cut his hair and gave him a shave and told him what to say and how to behave. It is pathetic to see how unemployment has reduced my father to childish dependence on others. He is waiting to hear from Manpower Services. 🍁 Friday March 5th

He got it! He starts on Monday... He is in charge of a gang of school-leavers. To celebrate he bought my mother sixty Benson and Hedges and himself sixty Prayer's. I got a family pack of Mars bars. Everybody is dead happy for once. Even the dog has cheered up a bit. Grandma is knitting my father a woolly hat for work.
